

Peace

Peace - the "Aware Ones" take time to focus, energize, and tolerate.

*Have you got time — for a moment of peace?
It takes time. It gives energy. It promotes tolerance.*

SCL Peace Pole dedication.

Ladysmith, Wisconsin, is one city with a Peace Pole — established by the Servite Center for Life \(SCL\) and the Servite Sisters.

The SCL Peace Pole is located on the Servants of Mary property at the head of the sidewalk leading to the small chapel. All are invited to come and rest in contemplation and hope. People are invited to gather in this place to create energy for peace on earth.

When this happens, they are not alone. Around the world there are 200,000 such Peace Poles from Wisconsin to Michigan, to South Africa, Sierra Leone, Italy, the North Pole, Taiwan, Egypt, Russia, Hiroshima, to the Jordan River and more — in 180 countries.

Symbols help to remind us that there is a great need to bring about peace. Often we can become discouraged and lose awareness that every human, bird, animal, and plant deserves a right to contribute to the balance of this beautiful journey on earth.

When a person sees the Peace Pole there are usually questions that follow. The questions bring the opportunity to focus live energy. Positive energy is healing. Healing promotes tolerance. Tolerance brings peace. The opposite, dominance by one or another, leads to war.

This particular movement was started by The World Peace Prayer Society, a non-profit, member-supported, non-sectarian organization. It is dedicated to uniting people across the globe through the universal prayer "May Peace Prevail on Earth." The poles in the U.S. are made in Northern Michigan of renewable western red cedar which has a natural resistance to decay, insects, warping, splitting, or cracking.

Peace Poles can be ordered from The Peace Pole Project (845-877-6093). The poles come in various heights and four sided or six sided. There are Plexiglas Plaques attached, which are printed with the names of the countries you select and the prayer "May Peace Prevail on Earth," written in that country's language.

Consider joining this effort. It will take a little of your time and energy, both set in a positive direction. You can join, perhaps marking your home, school or neighborhood as a center for peace energy. A dedication ceremony usually accompanies the planting of a new Peace Pole. One can invite friends, dignitaries, and neighbors. The results could be immense. As an "Aware One," you care and join those who energize for peace.
